Will Vote Wednesday On McCarthy Issue

Agree To Time Limit On Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) won Senate agreement Monday night to wind up debate and start voting Wednesday on the question of censuring him.

Sen. Langer (R-ND) blocked the move for a while, but withdrew his objection after earnest appeals on the Senate floor by Republican and Democratic leaders — as well as by McCarthy and his supporters.

The action came after McCarthy, his right arm in a sling, dramatically offered to withdraw any "discourteous and offensive" language of the kind that led to the filing of censure charges against him.

At the same time the Wisconsin senator refused to back down an inch from the views and actions reflected in those words of his.

"In the facts and opinions that I held, I am unchanged," declared McCarthy, a slow-gaited figure of apparent weariness as the resumed Senate debate on the censure charges dragged through an all afternoon and early evening session.

Langer never did say why he objected to McCarthy's out-of-the-blue proposal. Apparently, though, he was simply tired of the long wrangling that had been going on over the wording of the resolution.

McCarthy tried at one point to get in a proviso that he could file some censure charges of his own against his accusers. Under the rules, this would give those accused — McCarthy named Sens. Flanders (R-Vt), Fulbright (D-Ark) and Morse (Ind-Rep) as likely targets — only 30 minutes to defend themselves.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) called this a "flagrant violation" of fair play rules and in the end McCarthy abandoned the idea.

The final agreement to limit debate was sponsored jointly by GOP Leader Knowland of California and Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas. Essentially the same as when McCarthy first introduced it, it provides:

1. Debating time will be divided equally between those favoring and those opposing the McCarthy censure resolution starting at 9 (Continued on Page Nine)

Insane Criminals Riot For 2 Hours In Jersey Hospital

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Twenty-three insane criminals, including killer Howard Unruh, rioted Monday for two hours at the New Jersey State Hospital for the Insane.

Unruh, described by officials as a disinterested participant, was committed to the hospital five years ago after he killed 13 persons in a shooting spree at Camden.

The naked, cold and wet rioters filed out of the dining hall where they had barricaded themselves after Atty. Gen. Grover C. Richmond Jr. and U.S. District Judge Phillip Forman talked to an inmate in whose sympathy the outbreak was staged.

Dr. Harold Magee, hospital director, said a "hard core of five inmates" started the riot at dinner time, wrecking chairs and tables and eventually setting some of them on fire.

Magee told newsmen he doubted Unruh was a willing participant but said the killer had an opportunity to leave the dining room with some 280 other inmates.

The inmates held 54-year-old attendant Earl Hubbard prisoner in the dining hall of the room detention building during the riot. Magee said Hubbard was held by the arms by two inmates while others hit him. Hubbard suffered head injuries.

Five other attendants were hurt when they smashed windows and jumped 12 feet to a courtyard below the dining hall.

MOTHER, TWO SONS DIE IN TRAIN, CAR CRASH

HAMEL, Ill. (AP)—A mother and two sons were killed Monday and another son was injured critically in a collision between their automobile and a freight train two miles west of here in Madison County.

The dead were identified by Madison County officials as Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, 48; Clifford, 18; and Vernon, 2, all of nearby Carpenter, Ill.

Molotov Urges Reds Build Up Military Defense Against West

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov called Monday for a formal Eastern military bloc including East Germany to counter the system of alliance the West is building up.

Molotov addressed the opening session of the Communists' European Collective Security Conference. Soviet officials had invited 25 countries, but the Western Powers turned down the bid.

Delegations of seven Communist-ruled European countries and six of the Soviet Union's republics showed up, along with observers from Red China.

The Soviet foreign minister began his keynote speech by declaring recent events and the possibly imminent ratification of the Paris agreements to rearm West Germany have led to a "perilous course, dangerous for peace" in Europe.

He called on the countries represented at the Moscow conference to "consolidate their forces and considerably strengthen them in case the Paris agreements are ratified," adding:

"It is necessary that we duly carry out the preparation of such defense measures as will strengthen our defenses, in accordance with the needs of the present moment.

"This demands of the states taking part in this conference that they take measures in the field of organizing their military forces and their commands and that they take such measures as are necessary to protect the peaceful labor of their peoples and to protect their frontiers."

Molotov urged the Western powers to abandon their course and agree to:

"1. By all means prevent a revival of German militarism which unleashed the first and second World Wars and at last get down to the business of settling the German question on the basis of an agreement between the four powers (Russia, Britain, France and the United States) which have the main responsibility for insuring the peace and security of Europe.

"2. Create a system of collective security in Europe with the participation of all states interested in the preservation of peace and security, irrespective of their social systems, and also discuss existing Soviet proposals as well as those which might be presented by other countries."

Molotov declared these two points are closely interconnected and do not conflict with anyone's interest. However, the Western Powers already have turned them down in previous times.

U.S. Jets Arrive In Formosa

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—The first swift Sabrejets for Nationalist China's air force arrived Monday and were used on the way.

A U.S. source said only four of the jets which outclassed the Russian-built MIG15 in the Korean War were in the first shipment, adding: "The total number to be delivered will naturally be kept secret but it will be sizable."

Nationalist China has asked for at least 150 Sabrejets to meet the threat of a Red aerial onslaught against Formosa which the Nationalists insist is coming.

The Sabrejets were flown here from the U.S. base of Okinawa.

Name Wheat And Corn Kings At Chicago Farm Exhibition

CHICAGO (AP)—Elson Baur of Unionville, Mich., Monday was named wheat king of North America at the International Live Stock Exposition.

The reserve wheat champion is Fred Elmquist of Potter, Neb.

In the sheep show, Purdue University won the wether grand championship on a Southdown named "Purdue's Boilemaker," a 100-pound spring lamb.

Baur, a newcomer in the exposition's grain show, won the wheat crown on Yorkwin, a soft white winter variety of grain that weighed 61.2 pounds to the bushel. Elmquist showed Cheyenne variety, a hard red winter wheat, that weighed 64.1 pounds.

Naming of the wheat king was slowed as grain judges proceeded cautiously after disqualifying joint corn kings Sunday.

The grain judges tossed out of the wheat competition a sample of Reward variety, hard red spring wheat, entered by Gene V. Peterson, of Corvallis, Mont., a veteran grain exhibitor at the international.

Nab Bank Bandit 45 Minutes After Holdup At Latham

LATHAM, Ill. (AP)—A Springfield used car salesman took $1,810 from the Latham State Bank at gunpoint Monday but was captured 45 minutes later when his car crashed into a bridge during a bullet-marked chase.

The captive, Maynard L. Roberts, 55, admitted the robbery to police and newsmen. Asked his motive, Roberts said, "the bottle."

Newsman smelled liquor on his breath. "Is that all I got?" Roberts said when informed the amount of his loot. The money was recovered from a paper bag in his car, which crashed into a bridge near Mechanicsburg, 25 miles away from the bank. Roberts said he had not had time to count it.

FBI agents took Roberts to Springfield for prosecution on a federal warrant. They gave this account:

The robber entered the bank shortly after 1 p.m. and brandished a .32 caliber revolver at assistant cashier Dale Volle in the teller's cage.

"This is it. Put the money in here," he told Volle.

After getting the $1,810, he herded Volle and three other employees, including two girls, into the bank vault, ordering them to close the door. There were no customers in the bank.

Volle rushed out of the vault and called the Logan County sheriff's office at 1:25 p.m., when he heard the robber leaving the bank. A state police net was set up.

State Police Sgt. Clyde Oliver of Springfield caught Roberts on a rural route near Mechanicsburg. Oliver fired three bullets at Roberts' speeding car and it crashed into a bridge.

Returned to Latham for identification by the bank employees, Roberts told Volle:

"I wouldn't have hurt you for the world. You're a nice boy."

Roberts did not fire his revolver during the chase.

He said he had no particular need for the money.

Sheppard Had No Serious Injuries, Physician Testifies

CLEVELAND (AP)—A physician who examined Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard after his wife's murder testified Monday the osteopath showed no signs of serious injury — such as a broken neck or an injured spine.

Instead, Dr. Richard Hexter, a general practitioner, said Sheppard's pulse, respiration and blood pressure were normal last July 4 after he claims a stranger killed his pregnant wife, Marilyn, and twice knocked him unconscious.

Dr. Sheppard wore a neck brace for weeks after the murder and said his neck was painfully injured.

"I didn't notice any contusions or abrasions on the back of his neck," Dr. Hexter testified of his examination July 4, "and I didn't observe any swelling."

Defense Atty. William J. Corrigan, in a slashing, two-hour cross-examination, tried at one point to get Hexter and members of the jury to give themselves rabbit punches. He showed them how, cracking himself firmly but not dangerously at the base of the skull.

However, this experiment was blocked by state objections. Corrigan was trying to demonstrate that a rabbit punch—a sharp blow with the side of the hand to the base of the skull — is one of the most dangerous blows the human body can sustain.

It was such a blow, Sheppard maintains, that a bushy-haired prowler used on him after murdering Marilyn.

STRATTON'S PRESENCE NOT NECESSARY AT TRIAL OF EVAN DALE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Gov. Stratton has been notified he will not be required to be present this week in East St. Louis for the trial of Evan Dale, southern Illinois labor leader.

Stratton has been subpoenaed as a defense witness. The governor's office said today Stratton received a telegram last Wednesday from Defense Atty. John Hoban saying the governor would be advised when he is wanted to testify.

Meanwhile, William W. Downey, an aide to Stratton, said the governor has written to defense counsel asking to be permitted to give any testimony by deposition, thus eliminating the necessity for him to appear in person. There has been no reply.

Dale is being tried on labor racketeering charges.

U.S. Will Act 'Vigorously' To Keep Peace, Dulles

To Try Maj. Nugent On 13 Charges Of Red Collaboration

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP)—The Army announced Monday that Maj. Ambrose H. Nugent of Merrill, Wis., will be tried by a general court-martial for alleged traitorous acts while a prisoner of war in North Korea.

The decision to convene a general court-martial was made by Maj. Gen. Edward T. Williams, commanding general of the Ft. Sill Artillery Center.

No date has been set for the trial but sources close to the Army indicated it would be held in January. The site was not announced.

The Army said it would try the 44-year-old World War II combat veteran on 13 counts of collaborating with the enemy. The decision was reached after a week-long investigation by Capt. Gilbert Flesher, special officer assigned to check into the charges and recommend a course of action to the post commander.

Maj. Nugent will be the fourth American tried by court-martial as a result of charges growing out of the Korean War. The Army said it based its case on statements from 130 witnesses.

Arraign Woman: Admitted Poisoning Four Husbands

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—The smile that wreathed Mrs. Nannie Doss' plump face through cheerful confessions that she poisoned four of her five husbands vanished Monday at her arraignment on a murder charge.

The 49-year-old grandmother stood solemnly in Common Pleas Court as Judge Lloyd H. McGuire read the information accusing her of the death of her fifth spouse, appointed a defense attorney and ordered her jailed without bond.

Her attorney, Gordon Patten, indicated Mrs. Doss' defense against the charge she murdered Samuel Doss, 58-year-old Tulsa man who died Oct. 6, probably will be based on an insanity claim.

The chatty, merry widow signed statements yesterday admitting she put liquid rat poison in the food and drink of Doss, who, she said, was "mean" and "got on my nerves." She admitted killing three previous mates the same way.

Interrogators, who have said at least four other persons once closely associated with the defendant died strange deaths, quoted the gum-chewing Mrs. Doss after her last confession as saying:

"You can dig up all the other graves in the world but you won't find anything else on me."

Knowland, George Losing Faith In Protests To Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said Monday he had no faith in an attempt to exert pressure on Communist China through the United Nations to win release of American prisoners.

The Chinese Reds, Knowland said, have "ignored" a protest note from the United States and, in view of that, "are not going to pay any more attention to a note from the United Nations that is just worded in a little different language."

Sen. George (D-Ga.) said the "time is approaching" when protests from this country will not be adequate, but he declared several alternatives are still open and all should be exhausted before any military move is made.

George, the Senate's senior member, is due to take over as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee next year.

The two senators spoke out in separate interviews in advance of Secretary of State Dulles' foreign policy speech in Chicago Monday night. Dulles said the United States will "react vigorously" against Communist provocation in Asia, but he ruled out for the present any "war action such as a naval and air blockade of Red China."

Knowland, the Republican Senate leader, put into the Congressional Record a list of 26 American civilians he said are held by the Chinese Reds and declared "we do not know" how many others may be held.

7th Fleet Will Continue Watch On Formosa, U.S. Note Tells Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States told Russia politely but emphatically Monday that warships and planes of the 7th Fleet will continue to keep close watch over all shipping around the island of Formosa, including vessels flying the Soviet flag.

In separate messages, about the same time, the United States, Great Britain and France presented to the Soviet Foreign Office a five-point plan for East-West settlement in Europe, including a carefully hedged offer of a Big Four foreign ministers meeting.

Press officer Lincoln White said the note on 7th Fleet activities replied to a Russian note of last Aug. 4.

There was no explanation of why the reply had taken so long, but its publication now served to emphasize the determination of the United States to stand firm in its policy of protecting Formosa against Communist aggression.

Officials said this is particularly important at a time when the Chinese Reds are threatening to try to take over Formosa and push military operations against Nationalist-held islands nearer the Communist mainland.

The note was prompted by a Soviet complaint that in a series of six incidents involving five Russian vessels American aircraft had engaged in "provocative" actions by keeping the ships under surveillance while they were on the high seas.

The United States denied any "hostile or provocative action toward Soviet commercial vessels." It did not deny the several incidents which the Soviets cited, but said that these apparently were cases of U.S. naval planes identifying vessels operating around Formosa.

The note said this is not a violation of freedom of the seas or of (Continued on Page Nine)

"Family Doctor Of 1954" Gives Antidotes For Tension

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The "family doctor of 1954" — Dr. Karl B. Pace of Greenville, N.C. — Monday put his finger on "nerves and tension" as one of the biggest causes of American sickness, and prescribed some antidotes:

"Live each day as it comes — don't worry about next week."

"Learn to live instead of trying to get rich."

"Never stay mad."

"Start out by liking everyone you meet."

"Take a siesta after lunch, to help you relax."

And if marital quarrels are causing your ulcer, headache or other pains, "I tell a husband or wife — if either one of you tried one-twentieth as hard to make a go of your marriage as you do finding fault with each other, you'd probably have no problem. And never go to bed mad at each other."

Dr. Pace, white-haired and trim-figured at 66, Monday was chosen the 1954 general practitioner of the year by the American Medical Assn. He was selected for the gold medal honor from candidates nominated by each state.

Warns Cheap Fakes Of Well Known Watches On Market

CHICAGO (AP)—State Atty. John Gutknecht announced today swindlers are trying to make a killing in the Christmas market by flooding it with cheap fakes of well known watches.

He said his investigators have bought some 23 watches which were imitations of advertised timepieces in cheap jewelry stores throughout Chicago. None was found in large stores, he reported.

Gutknecht said the watch being most widely copied is a $95 self-winding, 23 jewel Bulova in a previous metal case. The imitation, worth about $3.30, is being sold for an average of $15. It has a 1 jewel movement and bears the name "Bulova" and the numeral 17.

Americans use about 17 billion gallons of water a day for domestic purposes.

Rules Out Blockade For Now

CHICAGO (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said Monday night the United States will act "vigorously" to maintain peace in Asia but he ruled out for the present any naval or air blockade of Red China.

Dulles told 1,200 farm youths and their adult leaders at the 4-H Club annual Congress that America's greatest contribution to peace "is to be ready to fight, if need be."

"That does not mean being truculent or provocative or militaristic," he said.

The secretary pledged the United States will "look anxiously for signs of real change in the attitude of international Communists." But he said the United States would not be fooled by any trickery in words like "coexistence" and would remain vigilant in the interests of "the common defense."

The secretary spoke out in what the State Department said in advance was a major foreign policy speech.

His statement ruling out any naval and air blockade of the Red China mainland came on the heels of a suggestion by Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California that a tight blockade be clamped on the coast of Red China.

Dulles' speech came too, amid diplomatic efforts to free 13 Americans the Red Chinese have condemned to prison terms ranging from four years to life. The Peiping regime has rejected American protests and insisted the 13 were spies.

Dulles noted that Russian Communists appeared to be talking more softly, lately. But, he said, "The Chinese Communists have talked and acted with increasing violence."

Even so, Dulles said, "There is less danger of world war than seemed to be the case a few years ago."

He repeated America's policy is to have enough striking power to respond against any new Communist aggression at a place and with the means of our own choosing.

The Chinese Reds "break their armistice agreements and they outrage the elemental decency of international conduct," Dulles said.

His text did not specify that he was here talking of the imprisonment of the 13 Americans, but he had used similar language in notes to the Chinese Communists on the subject.

His speech continued: "Perhaps international communism is trying by a new way to divide the free nations. They seem to be soothing in Europe. They are provocative in Asia...."

"What has happened is a challenge to us, and indeed to all who want peace, to find ways, consistent with peace, to sustain international rights and those of our citizens, rather than now resorting to (Continued on Page Nine)

WASTE OF BRAIN POWER

It's a very healthy thing that so many Americans respect the idea of having a college education. Regard for learning, for the discipline of good training, is a mark of a people's maturity.

Yet this regard can be allowed to go too far—or at least can be somewhat distorted. For the nation obviously has great mental reserves among the millions not fortunate enough ever to gain a college education.

A good many commercial and industrial concerns in this country have reached the point where they are insisting on a college diploma as necessary equipment for advancement to key executive responsibilities. The theory seems to be that only college graduates could possibly have the imagination and resourcefulness for creative thinking and problem solving at the highest level.

But an industrial psychologist, Dr. E. L. Stromberg of the B. F. Goodrich company, comes forward now to dispute that notion. He reminds us that half our huge population is capable of earning a college degree, even though but a small percentage of these actually get the opportunity.

Says Stromberg:

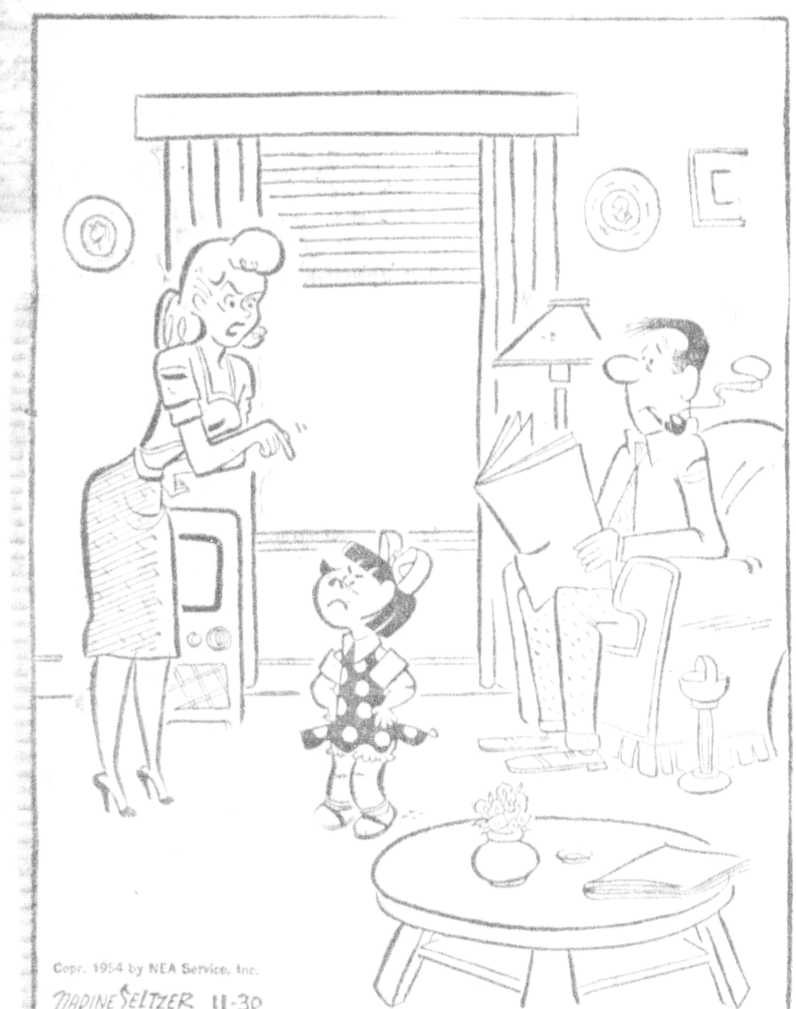

"This waste of brain power is a detriment from which some industrial managements need to free themselves by recognizing that maturity, experience and growing knowledge exist in every man, not alone in college graduates."

We really shouldn't need the reminder. The catalog of "self-made men" who helped build America is infinitely long. True, our business world, like our political world, is more complex today than a few decades ago. The necessity for expert knowledge, for specialized training, is great.

But men who have basic qualities of intelligence, who diligently apply themselves to their tasks and who profit by experience still can measure up to the heaviest responsibilities if given the chance.

The times are a challenge. Let's not throw away some of the best brains we might put into the contest simply because some men can't or don't get inside the ivied college walls.

Boyle's Column

NEW YORK (AP) — How does the average American housewife spend her time?

During my recent visit to Belgium my friend Reiman (Pat) Morin filled the space it is my duty to occupy.

He made the mistake—darned if I didn't forget to warn him against it of praising women. Nothing gets a man in more trouble than complimenting the ladies. They are so suspicious!

While boasting of the female sex's greater longevity and durability, Pat made the offhand observation that after all, "The average housewife doesn't have to over exert herself in the pursuit of her daily chores."

This has resulted so far in 18 zillion letters denouncing Pat—and not a single one to thank him for all the kind things he said about womenkind.

So be it. We will vie the rostrum of reply to Mrs. Vera Jungert of Clarkston, Wash.

Take the platform, Mrs. Jungert. Here is this man who tells us what a soft life we lead washing clothes, getting meals, doing dishes, sewing rips and tears and buttons.

"Patching cuts and bruises, buying groceries without spending any money, scrubbing floors, waxing furniture, taking care of pets, the children bring home and then forget to feed."

Pressing father's pants, doing papa's book work, having babies every year or two.

Nursing the sick family, caring hubby's letters for him, waiting for the flowers and the lawn.

defrosting or cleaning refrigerator, stoves, cupboards, drawers, closets, bathing and taming babies, helping juniors with his schoolwork so he won't flunk this year.

"Paving the bulls, shopping for clothes, cleaning up the trail of trash the entire family leaves behind, getting up nights with children who don't wish to sleep, changing beds, washing windows, answering juniors' question, refereeing arguments between the children, watching them so they don't inscribe hieroglyphics on the walls with crayons, trim each other's eyelashes with scissors, or crack skulls with the frying pan."

"Getting the family dressed, running children around to dental appointments, shots at the doctor's office, scout meetings, birthday parties, making costumes for school plays, polishing shoes."

"digging gum off the rug, cleaning the car, taking the leaves, recovering kitchen plastic chairs, painting when it needs to be done, cleaning the rings from the bathtub, talking to assorted traveling salesmen, representatives of charitable institutions, and bill collectors, keeping your hands soft and white like papa loves to touch, and your complexion like a schoolgirl's, so papa won't think the grass looks greener on the other side of the fence, and all the things that desperately need to be but there's no time to do them."

There are several kinds of leukemia. What matters for the patient is whether the disease is acute and rapidly progressive or chronic and slowly progressive.

IN BOTH CASES, the white cells in the blood are abnormal and usually increased in numbers. The numbers of red cells are generally decreased producing an anemia. Frequently, too, the spleen, which lies in the upper left portion of the abdomen is enlarged and changes are found in the bone marrow.

In the rapidly progressive types of leukemia there is nothing much that can be done to slow down the course of the disease. In many cases, however, the disease passes into the chronic stage without any treatment at all, or perhaps aided by the treatment attempted.

IN THE CHRONIC leukemias, there are several treatments available which may bring about temporary improvement. None of them, however, can be counted on for permanent cure. The byproducts of atomic energy, radioactive phosphorus in particular, have been used in some forms of leukemia.

Also ACTH and cortisone, other new developments, have been tried and these substances often exert a temporarily favorable effect.

Radioactive Substances Now Used in Treating Leukemia

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

As most people now know, leukemia is a disease of the blood and blood-forming organs. It has sometimes been likened to cancer since it involves the over-production of abnormal cells and like cancer its cause is unknown; but most physicians do not really like to call it cancer of the blood. It may turn out to be closely related to cancer but at present, at least, it is better to call it leukemia which means literally white blood.

There are several kinds of leukemia. What matters for the patient is whether the disease is acute and rapidly progressive or chronic and slowly progressive.

IN BOTH CASES, the white cells in the blood are abnormal and usually increased in numbers. The numbers of red cells are generally decreased producing an anemia. Frequently, too, the spleen, which lies in the upper left portion of the abdomen is enlarged and changes are found in the bone marrow.

Fields Disappearance Came At Same Time as Hiss Case

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON —(NEA) — Noel and Herta Field disappeared behind the Iron Curtain in May, 1949. They had been doing Unitarian relief work in Geneva. First Noel, then his wife, went quietly to Prague and didn't come back.

The Alger Hiss case was then a major sensation in the United States. Whittaker Chambers, who put his finger on Hiss as a Communist agent, declares in his book, "Witness," that:

"I infer they (the Fields) had knowledge about Alger Hiss and others that made it inadvisable to leave them in any part of the United States or Europe where American officials could reach them."

Chambers also revealed how Alger Hiss and Hede Massing, ex-wife of Communist agent Gerhart Eisler, had to recruit Noel Field into their respective Communist apparatuses in Washington.

Hede Massing herself, in her book "This Deception" and in testimony before congressional committees, has revealed that Field was actually in her cell to furnish U. S. government information on Russia to the U. S. S. R.

Noel Field, after graduation from Harvard, joined the State Department in 1926. He resigned ten years later to work for the League of Nations in Geneva.

Whittaker Chambers has written that Gen. Walter Krivitsky, one-time chief of Soviet Intelligence in Europe, declared that Field really went to Geneva to work for him, using the League of Nations job and later his work for Unitarian relief as a convenient cover.

"This is the substance of evidence to support the charge that Field was not an American spy against the Communists, as they charge, but a Communist spy."

However, Hede Massing, in her book, suggests the possibility that Field broke with the Communists when he left Washington.

Whatever the facts of this great mystery, the U. S. Departments of State and Justice say there are no outstanding charges against the Fields.

U. S. Minister Christian Ravndal, in Hungary, has given an impression of indifference whether the Noel and Herta Field return to the United States or not.

U. S. passports issued to the Fields have, of course, expired. New passports could be issued by the U. S. consulate on their application.

The State Department says it is ready to admit the Fields if they want to return to the United States.

They Could, of Course, be brought back in custody, if there were any charges outstanding against them. The statute of limitations would have run out on most matters then.

But on espionage cases there is no time limit. Any number of such cases might be reopened if the Fields choose to tell all they know.

Speculatively, the Fields could still be of some use to the Communists, if they choose to remain behind the Iron Curtain of silence.

The first problem, of course, is to get them out from behind the Iron Curtain. It is just possible they might not want to come. This might be one reason why Hermann Noel and Herta Field might prefer to remain abroad, waiting to see what kind of a welcome they will get in their homeland and what their legal situation will be in this country.

But a sixty-four-dollar question arises here as to whether the Fields, as suspected Communists, could be readmitted to the United States.

Noel Field was born in London, Mrs. Noel Field was born in Switzerland. Mrs. Hermann Field was born in England. Mrs. Wallach was born in Germany. They are naturalized Americans and as such they could be barred under the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act.

Hermann Field and Mrs. Doubt, his sister, are believed to be American born and therefore they have the right to come back to the United States as native American citizens.

Yesterday at lunch with Ted Sauter we discussed something different for Christmas dinner. Lamb on fresh mint was his suggestion.

Ted Sauter, author of "Bottoms Up," a handsomely made book of 800 recipes for punches and mixed drinks, gourmet and fabulous publication, gave us his method.

First, get lots of fresh mint. Many grocers carry it year round. Select a large leg of lamb. Salt, canned peas go with this dinner and it and sprinkle with freshly ground black pepper. Place in large roasting pan. Next pour exactly 2 cups of white vinegar over the lamb. Roast in preheated oven at 350 degrees F.

Drain liquid from can of small hard white onions. If fresh onions are used, parboil them and save the liquid. As the juices in pan dry, French dressing. We had chicken pour more onion water over lamb, livers and bacon boiled on a skewer. Roast for about 3 hours, adding more onion water to prevent burning and served on a bed of spinach.

Three quarters of an hour before mint with cups, roast lamb on fresh mint will be done, place the little toes, tart currant jelly, baby peas, white onions in pan. They will pan gravy. French rolls mixed green roast to a lovely golden brown and salad. French dressing, compote of become unbelievably flavorful. You fresh fruit, chocolate-almond waif might add small white potatoes, too, ers, coffee, tea, milk.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Clear bouillon with cups, roast lamb on fresh mint with tiny onions and potatoes. Place roast lamb on top and surround with the onions and roasted potatoes.

COMMENTS on THINGS & STUFF

P-sst, DAD; This is for YOU!

This message is addressed to those dads who wish they had used a giant size piggy bank during this past year; to those who find themselves short of ready cash right at Christmas shopping time.

Of course, you can borrow money, but you must pay interest on borrowed money. If you had used a piggy bank for that odd dime, quarter or half-buck this past year you would not have missed it; and you would have plenty of ready cash for this holiday season.

Now there is no sense waiting until New Year's to make a good resolution; you may as well decide right now to buy an attractive jolly-looking piggy bank. Buy one for the missus too. Who knows? She might even take the hint.

Be sure to give one to each of the kids. The youngsters may not even ask you for money next Christmas. So you can do a good turn for yourself as well as teach them the merits of thrift.

These large piggy banks are really attractive and appealing. They are priced from only $1.35. See them at the Miller Paint & Wallpaper Company—220 West State St., Jacksonville.

Pastor Performs 100th Wedding At White Hall

WHITE HALL — Miss Shirley Rabe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rabe of this city, became the bride of Dallas Day Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Day Sr., of Jacksonville on Wednesday night, Nov. 24, at the First Baptist church here with Rev. Ben A. Bohn, pastor, performing the single ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate families and a few friends.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The couple was attended by Betty Rabe, sister of the bride and William Ray Wells of Patterson.

The bride wore a blue two piece faile dress with a corsage of white carnations and her sister wore a pink dress with a corsage of white carnations. A reception followed at the bride's home east of the city.

The bride is a graduate of the local high school class of '53 and is employed at the Illinois State hospital. The groom is a graduate of the Jacksonville schools and is employed at the Illinois Braille and Sight Saving School. The couple will reside in Jacksonville.

This marked the one hundredth couple Rev. Ben has married since coming to this city nine years ago.

Darr-Castberry

A wedding took place on Thanksgiving afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Eddy when their daughter, Mrs. Pearl Eddy Castberry became the bride of Robert Darr, son of Hayden Darr of Kane, Rev. Roy Anthony performed the single ring ceremony before the families and close friends.

The couple was attended by the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Davis. The bride wore a blue street dress with a corsage of white carnations and a rhinestone necklace, gift of the groom. Her sister wore a gray dress with black accessories and a white carnation corsage.

A dinner preceded the wedding ceremony at the bride's home and the group went to the home of the groom's grandmother in Kane for a wedding supper. They will reside in Roxana, where the groom is employed by the Shell Corporation.

Man 83 Honored

C. F. Shive who was 83 years old on Nov. 22 was honored with a family birthday dinner on Sunday. Twenty-three attended the dinner with three of his four children and their families attending, which included Claude Shive, Nebo, Mrs. Orville Guthrie, Pleasant Hill, and Mrs. Otis Jouett of this city, the other son Everett being unable to attend.

On Monday night Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Krimmske, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Ralston and Mr. and Mrs. William Fletcher honored Mr. Shive with a chili supper at his home.

Della Simmons Gives Program Before Sorority

Gamma and Xi Alpha Upsilon chapters of Beta Sigma Phi sorority met recently at the home of Mrs. Ralph Withee on South East street. Miss Naomi Woods was assistant hostess.

Mrs. Jay Hamilton, president of Xi Alpha Upsilon chapter, presided at the business meeting. Following roll call, the minutes of the last two meetings were read and approved.

At the close of the business session, Mrs. Hamilton presented Miss Della Simmons, a member of Gamma chapter, who provided the program. Miss Simmons spoke on the subject "You and Your Audience." She mentioned the importance of a speaker's appearance and stressed the fact that a speaker must be poised both physically and mentally. A part of Whittier's "Snow Bound" was read to illustrate the importance of descriptive words. Miss Simmons concluded with the reading of two poems, "The Landing of the Pilgrim Fathers" and

"Thanksgiving Day."

Following this interesting discussion, the seven pledges of Gamma chapter presented an amusing skit, "An Evening With Honey."

The next meeting of the two chapters will be held on Dec. 13 at the home of Mrs. Jay Hamilton. This will be a potluck supper served at 6:30 p.m. Members are asked to remember that this will be the Christmas meeting.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Withee and Miss Woods.

Greene-Calhoun Salon Will Hold Supper Dec. 15th

The program was "Men in Music" and Mrs. A. O. Brannan gave a paper on Melchior and Pina. Miss Wendell gave a vocal solo, Miss Worcester a piano solo, with Mrs. F. N. McLaren giving a paper on Hammenstein and Rogers. Mrs. Shappard presented an article on Thanksgiving.

DESTRUCTIVE WAVE
The explosion of Krakatos, volcanic island in what now is Indonesia, in 1883 caused a sea wave that snuffed out the lives of 36,000 people.

REASON FOR RAISE
The raised bottom of wine bottles allows the sediment to settle in such a way that the wine can be decanted without disturbing it. This type of bottle probably originated in France.

Patricia Shawgo And Robert L. Sarff Wed

CHANDLERVILLE — A popular Cass county couple, Miss Patricia Ann Shawgo and Robert L. Sarff were united in marriage Sunday, November 28, at the Shinarump Baptist church by the Reverend W. A. Ogden, who used the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Shawgo of Chandlerville. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sarff of Bath.

Miss Barbara Schaffer, cousin of the bridegroom, was the bride's only attendant. Another cousin of the bridegroom, Richard Schaffer, served as best man.

Ushers were James Sarff, brother of the bridegroom and Jerry Sarff, cousin of the bridegroom.

Preceding the ceremony Dean Tooke sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. Anna Tooke.

The bride wore a floor length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over taffeta. Her dress featured puffed sleeves, fitted bodice and a Peter Pan collar. The full skirt had an apron effect at the front in lace. She wore long white gloves. Her shoulder length veil was sheer illusion and fell from a halo crown trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a white satin covered Bible topped with an orchid corsage. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls and matching earrings, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Schaffer wore a ballerina length gown of pale blue with matching shoes and mits. Her headdress was similar in style with the bride's and she carried a Colonial bouquet of tea roses.

Reception at Church
At the reception held after the ceremony a three tiered decorated wedding cake was served with punch to the guests. Assisting with the serving were Miss Evelyn Milstead, Miss Bobette Dearing, Mrs. Francis Sarff, Miss Nancy, Lynn and Miss Rita Schaffer, Miss Nancy Sarff was also in charge of the display of gifts and Mrs. Wayne Giddens was in charge of the registration of guests.

The newlyweds left following the reception for a honeymoon. The bride wore for traveling a green suit with brown accessories and the orchid corsage from her wedding bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Sarff are to make their home in Bath where the bride is a beautician and Mr. Sarff is employed at Havana as a carpenter.

Hope To Save Boy's Foot Crushed By Car

Surgeons continued Monday their efforts to save the left foot of Kenneth James Coffman, 11, who was injured by an automobile late Saturday afternoon on U. S. Route 67, near the Burlington railroad bridge north of the city. The rear wheel of the car is reported to have run over the boy's foot, which was almost torn from his ankle.

The boy is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Coffman, 1930 Cedar street, and is a sixth grade pupil at the Lincoln school.

The Coffman youth and a friend had ridden bicycles to the overhead bridge, a short distance north of the city, and had been playing in the vicinity of the bridge. One boy had crossed the highway, and the Coffman boy was attempting to cross when he was struck or walked into the side of a northbound automobile.

State and city police who investigated the accident said the 1951 Studebaker which injured the boy was driven by Arthur Houghton, 1005 East Republic street, Peoria. Houghton told the officers that the youngster ran into the side of his car.

Kenneth James has not been able to relate complete details of the accident.

Officers who went to the place of the accident were State Patrolman Clyde Vasconcellos, Jr., Lieut. Howard Stout, Patrolmen Ernest Smith and Robert Brune.

Cooney's ambulance took the boy to the hospital.

Members of the family said Monday that only a piece of skin and an artery were left connecting the foot and ankle when help reached the boy. Surgeons are endeavoring to restore circulation and save the foot.

George Coffman, father of the youngster, is one of the proprietors of the C & L Auction Co.

both residential and business houses. Further plans will be announced later.

The club voted a recommendation to the Village of Bluffs board that a tap be secured on the Jacksonville water line for future use, if needed. This tap must be installed before the pipe is laid in the ground.

The new enterprise committee was ordered to follow up the inquiry of a Pennsylvania company wanting to locate in the mid-west, the inquiry coming through the Illinois Chamber of Commerce.

Madness In The Spring

By Elmore Denniston

XXXI
DAGGETT'S refusal to be shaved was a straw in the wind. He had a beard that rivaled Rex Stout's and which almost completely concealed his disfigurement. Rupert's small mustache burgeoned into a noble affair with long waxed points but he was too sophisticated to do justice to cowboy regalia.

"What you need," Daggett told him, "is to replace that modified boy scout suit with the kind of outfit that used to be worn by spiclers at the old medicine shows." He fumbled about among a pile of old posters he had unearthed and dug out one that pictured a man in a high silk hat, tail coat, ruffled shirt, tight pants and thigh-length boots.

It was not until Greg made a heavy trip to the state capital to consult dignitaries about this revival of the Old West that the full extent of the collective illusion hit him. Even in Solomon's splendor Rupert could hardly have been conspicuous now. The town was plastered with posters, telling the people about Dead Man's Gulch. Pasty-skinned men with concave chests and convex abdomens strutted along the street on the way to desk or counter in 10-gallon hats and chaps. The department store had replaced nylons and home permanents by riding boots and firearms. The general effect was mildly synthetic but the dream was there.

Greg encountered a young Indian college graduate and arranged to have him bring some members of his tribe to Dead Man's Gulch for the Grand Opening, to provide local color and at the same time pick up some money for themselves by taking orders for moccasins, doing dances, or selling picture postcards.

ONLY Kirby remained aloof. He did not offer to help with any of the dozen projects that were being carried on. He sauntered around, an occasionally amused, a more frequently bored spectator. Until, that is, he grew restless.

"So far as I can see," he complained to Hannah, "nothing has been done about telecasting the Grand Opening. No one has put the proposition up to Crain. I can't hang around indefinitely. In my job a man is forgotten too soon. I've got to stage a comeback and do it before long."

"Greg will take care of it," Hannah assured him.

"Maybe?" Kirby cocked an eyebrow at her.

"What do you mean by that?" "The truth is," Kirby admitted, as though surprised by himself, "that what I care most about is being popular with you."

Hannah looked at him quickly, seeking for some indication that he was making fun of her. "I've never known a girl like you before. I've been fighting clear of entanglements with women. But I'd like to marry you." He laughed with sudden gaiety as he saw her open-mouthed amazement. "And if I am going to support a wife," he went on more briskly, "I've got to get a new contract. If Seaver won't take steps I will."

"What can you do?" "I have a bargaining point," she said, not understanding he added, "Rupert Landusky."

He watched while Hannah ran out of doors and after a quick look around set off, skirts flying, hair shaking down around her neck, toward Greg who was supervising the unloading of dishes at the restaurant.

He was waiting quietly when Greg came striding up to him, wearing a bright flannel shirt and a brighter scarf knotted around his neck. Greg's hand shot out and gripped his arm.

"If you turn in Rupert," he said evenly, "I swear you'll get a press that will make you think you won a popularity contest when you were bounced out of your last job."

"What's Landusky to you?" Kirby exclaimed in irritation.

"He's a good guy. But even if he weren't I wouldn't let you get by with a thing like that. Rupert has my word that nothing is going to happen to him here."

"I couldn't care less."

GREG turned on his heel and Kirby, after a moment's reflection, went through the hotel to the first-floor bedroom where, for several days Daggett had, in his own words, "been taking things easy."

Daggett waved his good hand at a chair. When Kirby had seated himself he asked, "What's on your mind?"

"It's about the television program," he said. "So far as I can make out, Seaver hasn't taken a single step. By his own account, Crain takes him for a lightweight and, after all, I've had years of experience and a big name in radio."

Daggett cocked a sardonic eyebrow. "Your name at this moment is mud."

"I can't go through the rest of my life with amnesia," Kirby told him desperately. "You are holding a gun at my head. It might be wise to recall that I have some ammunition too."

"If you mean Rupert," Daggett said tranquilly, "you've got a blank cartridge. I've got friends in the State Department and I've put the matter up to them. After the Grand Opening Rupert is to leave the country and make a legal re-entry. As for your amnesia, it's in your own hands."

Kirby flung out his hands.

"What do you want me to do?"

"Get in touch with Perkins' widow and see that she is provided with some means of support. I don't care whether you have to hamstring yourself for the rest of your life. But make it good."

"And then?" Kirby asked.

"And then," Daggett said, "we release our publicity."

TCP puts lost engine power back to work

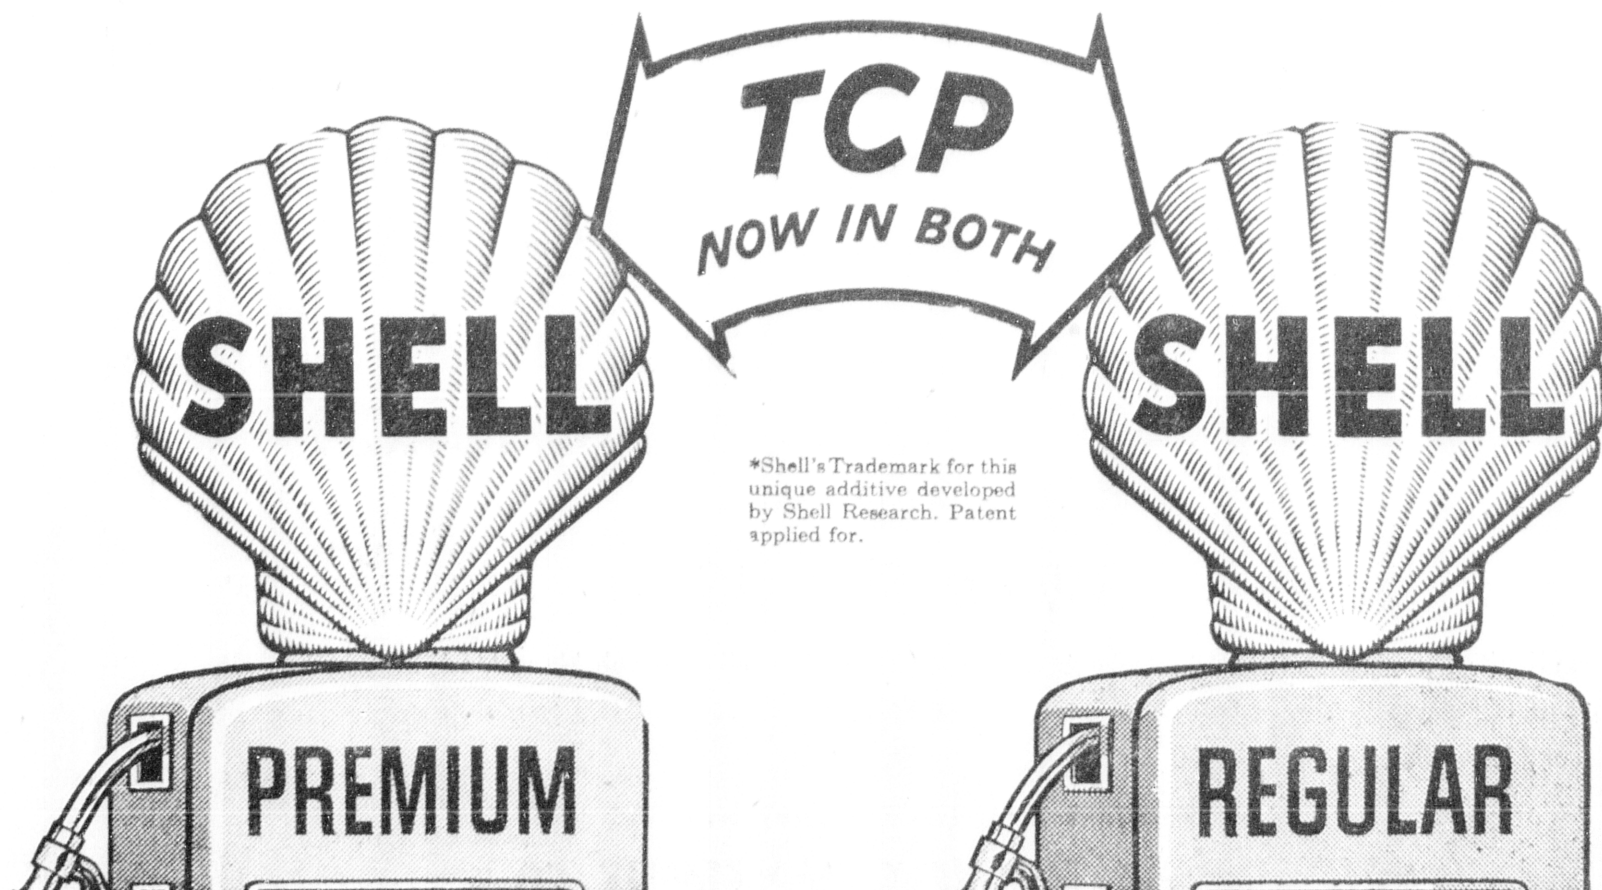

First introduced exclusively in Shell Premium Gasoline, TCP is now in regular grade Shell Gasoline, too. Gives performance never before possible with a regular grade fuel

TCP*, Shell-developed additive that overcomes the greatest cause of power loss in the majority of the cars on the road today, has now been blended into regular grade Shell Gasoline.

As a result, engines designed to operate on regular gasoline can benefit two ways. First, TCP additive "fireproofs" combustion chamber deposits, effectively controlling pre-ignition. Second, by changing the deposits on the spark plugs to non-conductors of electricity, TCP additive stops misfiring. Each plug fires as it should, preventing fuel waste.

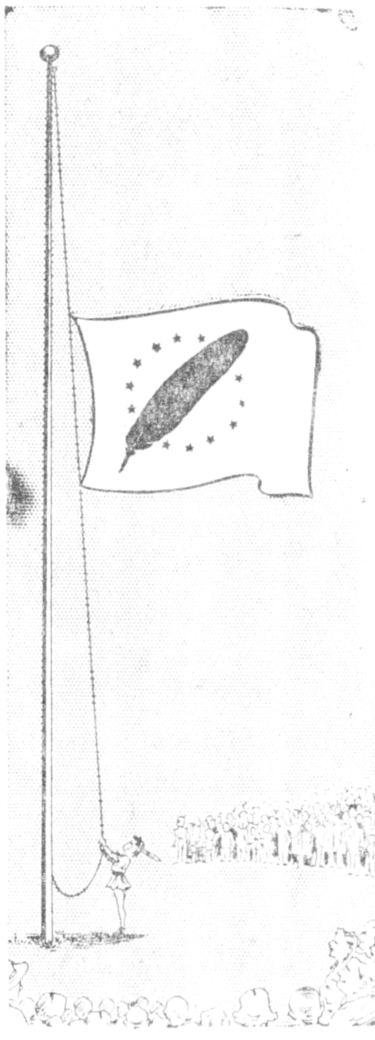

If your engine customarily runs on regular fuel and is being robbed of power by deposits—you'll now get performance never before possible with a regular grade gasoline. Shell Gasoline with TCP gives these engines an increase in power and engine smoothness, an increase in spark plug life, an increase in mileage. And you'll get these benefits before you've finished the second tankful.

Since engine deposits form constantly, continued use of Shell Gasoline, regular grade, with TCP additive is essential to retain its benefits. Now at all Shell Dealers.

Engineers Tell Car Critics Most Serious Crashes Can Be Traced To Human Failure

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

DETROIT — Car bodies, bumpers and brakes are better, wrap-around windshields widen driver vision, power steering prevents many accidents, nearly every improvement since the self-starter has a safety factor.

That's the reaction of automotive engineers and car designers to recurring criticisms that the modern motorcar is something of a death trap.

One of the most recent blasts at the car makers came out of a meeting of the American College of Surgeons. The charge was made that the auto makers are not sufficiently interested in safety.

The industry has decided against any formal reply. But there are numerous volunteer defenders of the industry's product, especially among the engineers.

They take the position, generally, that few traffic crashes result from mechanical failures that are traceable to original design or construction of the vehicle. They disclaim responsibility for crashes that are driven too fast under adverse weather conditions; cars driven with defective brakes or tires, or with things loose behind the wheel.

Keeping brakes, tires, lights and wind-shield wipers in proper condition, they say, are the responsibility of the car owner. Most serious crashes, they add, can be traced to human failure and, more often than not, involve ignorance of or disregard for traffic ordinances.

Almost every evaluation of the safety features of the present-day automobile has underscored the absence of safety belts, which are used in aircraft. Safety belts, they have not been made standard equipment, the car designers say, chiefly because few drivers or riders would wear them.

Beyond that, however, tests made by the auto industry indicated the belts in themselves might not be effective. To be really effective, the experts say, the belt would have to be expanded into a shoulder harness and a crash helmet might also be required. Many car makers are using padded instrument panels; an increasing use of power steering as indicated with substantial price reductions already announced. Adoption of improved headlights awaits only the revision of statutes in some states. Tireless tires with less danger of punctures and blowouts are becoming standard equipment on most 1955 model cars.

Car industry safety experts say power steering contributes more to motorist safety than the average car owner realizes. It enables the motorist to keep the car righted in the event of a front tire blowout at high speed.

Some critics of the auto industry have pointed to what they term a "horsepower race" as an invitation to high speed driving and a high accident rate. The criticism is that "so much power isn't needed." The engineers' response is that "so much power never is used." They explain that it helps smooth out the operation of the car and contributes generally to a better functioning of the power plant.

PATTERSON

PATTERSON—Mr. and Mrs. Harley Wyatt and children, Waco and Diane, spent Thanksgiving in Springfield as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Edwards. The children remained for a few days visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Cade who have been visiting relatives in the Patterson vicinity left for their home in Kansas City. They had visited relatives in California before coming to Illinois. Mrs. Cade is the former Minnie Schutz.

Interpreting The News

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Moscow's hopes of defeating the Western European Union are rising. The greatest weight of Communist propaganda is being thrown now against the Germans, and not the French, as was the case before the European Defense Community plan was beaten.

Any means will justify the end, so the Communists go along with the most intense of German nationalist spirit to help wreck the West's defense scheme.

Thus a Tass-Soviet news agency dispatch from East Berlin to the official Soviet Communist newspaper Pravda quotes Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl of Red East Germany as saying it is his government's opinion that the Saarland belongs to Germany. There is no such nationalistic approach to the question of Moscow's eastern areas, which Moscow incorporated into Poland.

The Paris agreement, which would detach the Saar from Germany, has no legal validity, Grotewohl told his East German parliament, and no real agreement between France and Germany can be reached without recognition that the Saar is "an indivisible, component part of Germany." Once that is recognized, said the Red leader, there could be agreement taking care of France's security and economic considerations.

The meaning behind this is clear enough. Before the European Defense Community died in Paris, all Communist propaganda centered on the French and their fears of German nationalism. Now the Communists see a good chance to capitalize on German nationalist feelings.

Already the quarrel over the Saar, with its important industrial resources, threatens to split the West German government coalition of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. The Chancellor is up to his ears in a battle between his Christian Democrats and Dr. Thomas Dehler's German party, the two biggest parties in the Bonn coalition.

In the wings wait the Social Democrats, willing to experiment with neutralization of Germany in return for the hope—just the hope—that the Soviet Union some day will permit all Germany to reunite. The Soviet Union's propaganda, blasting in from all sides, tells all Germans that if the Western European Union accord is ratified, Germany has lost for all time the prospect of reunification.

The Soviet Union now go through the motions of acting the frightened of the West's intentions. Its conference on all-European security, rejected by the non-Communist Western nations, will turn out to be a conference of Soviet satellites looking toward a "security alliance" of their own.

POWER IN A SMALL PACKAGE—The Mighty Mite, small enough to be airlifted by helicopter, and tough enough to drive through knee-deep mud, is expected to aid our combat military forces. It is considerably lighter than the Jeep, has four-wheel drive and can supposedly do 57 mph. Because of its balance, it can be driven on three wheels or on a flat tire without damage, according to the Detroit, Mich., manufacturer. Mighty Mite can carry a 500-pound payload while towing another 1000 pounds over a rough terrain.

1953 Tornadoes Caused More Damage Than Ever Before But 1954 Hurricanes Topped All Insurance Records

By ARTHUR MERIMS

NEW YORK (AP)—Last year, tornadoes caused more property damage than ever before in the history of the insurance business. But 1953's losses will be no match for the havoc of 1954's hurricanes.

So far this year, eight hurricanes have swept northward from the Caribbean. Three of them (Carol, Edna and Hazel) did far more damage than all of last year's tornadoes combined. Estimates of insurance claims have already topped 225 million dollars.

One of the largest fire insurance stock companies reports a 20 million dollar loss this year due to higher.

Hurricanes, tornadoes and typhoons are the three most damaging windstorms. Each consists of a wind rotating counter-clockwise at a tremendous velocity around a low-pressure center. Both the typhoon and hurricane originate over water and are accompanied by high tides. Both have a wind velocity ranging from 75 to 150 miles an hour. But the typhoon seldom travels in excess of 12 miles an hour while the hurricane often moves at five times that speed.

The tornado strikes with greater fury than any other windstorm, its dark funnel reaching skyward from the earth averages about 2,000 feet in diameter. That's small compared with the typhoon and hurricane, whose diameters range between 150 and 300 miles. But the wind velocity within the tornado's funnel is usually more than 300 miles an hour.

For the past two decades, fire insurance companies have offered property owners protection against windstorm damage through an "extensive coverage" endorsement. This endorsement usually covers any damage directly attributed to a windstorm, from a blown-off factory roof to a broken TV antenna. It rarely covers water damage caused by high tides in beach areas, however.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters identifies "catastrophes" as storms that do more than a million dollars insured damage. Since 1949, there have been 56 such "catastrophes" with losses totaling more than one billion dollars.

In 1953, Georgia, Texas, Michigan, Ohio, Massachusetts and Alabama were hard hit by tornadoes and hailstorms. The U. S. Weather Bureau estimated damage at 175 million dollars, four times that of any previous year. In all, there were 539 tornadoes in 1953 and nearly 500 persons died as a result. Though figures for 1954 are incomplete, this year's damage and death totals are known to be

A SWITCH OF THE PITCH
-AND AWAY YOU GO!
The biggest sensation in years is what "variable pitch propellers" have done for Dynaflow Drive*

It happens like this. You need pickup — and pronto. So you get it. You get it by pushing the accelerator pedal of a 1955 Buick all the way to the floor board.

Then — without jerk or lag or lurch or pause — you get action! You get action whether you're just starting off — or asking for a safety-surge of power out on the highway.

There's nothing like it in past experience — because there has never been anything like it in an automobile before.

This is action that comes from the principle of variable pitch propellers used on modern planes. Their propeller blades change "pitch" for take-off — and cut hundreds of feet off the time required to lift a plane from a runway.

And the amazing fact is — in a 1955 Buick Dynaflow Drive there are 20 little propeller-like blades that also change their pitch, just like the propeller blades of a plane.

This is a transmission engineer's dream of heaven. A build-up of momentum as smooth as flowing oil — and almost as quick as lightning — plus better gas mileage in cruising range. It's what the whole automobile industry has been shooting for — and Buick has it.

So there's only one thing for you to do. Try out a 1955 Buick, and soon.

Try it out for quick and thrilling action, as we've mentioned. Try it out for room and comfort and ride. And by all means, cast an admiring eye on its style — for it beats the high-fashion Buicks which set the pattern in the successful year just ended.

We're waiting and eager to hear from you soon. So drop in — or give us a call. We promise you a thrill that no other car can deliver.

Ohio State Named '54 Collegiate Champions

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (P) — Rose Bowl-bound Ohio State Monday was named as the 1954 national collegiate football champion and winner of the O'Donnell Memorial Trophy.

In the final Associated Press ranking poll of the season, the nation's sports writers and broadcasters, casting a record-breaking ballot, named Ohio's Buckeyes by a slim margin over UCLA's Bruins of 3,670 points to 3,594.

These two unbeaten teams had made it a race all through the closing weeks of the season, with Ohio State slipping ahead two weeks ago and holding on to the finish.

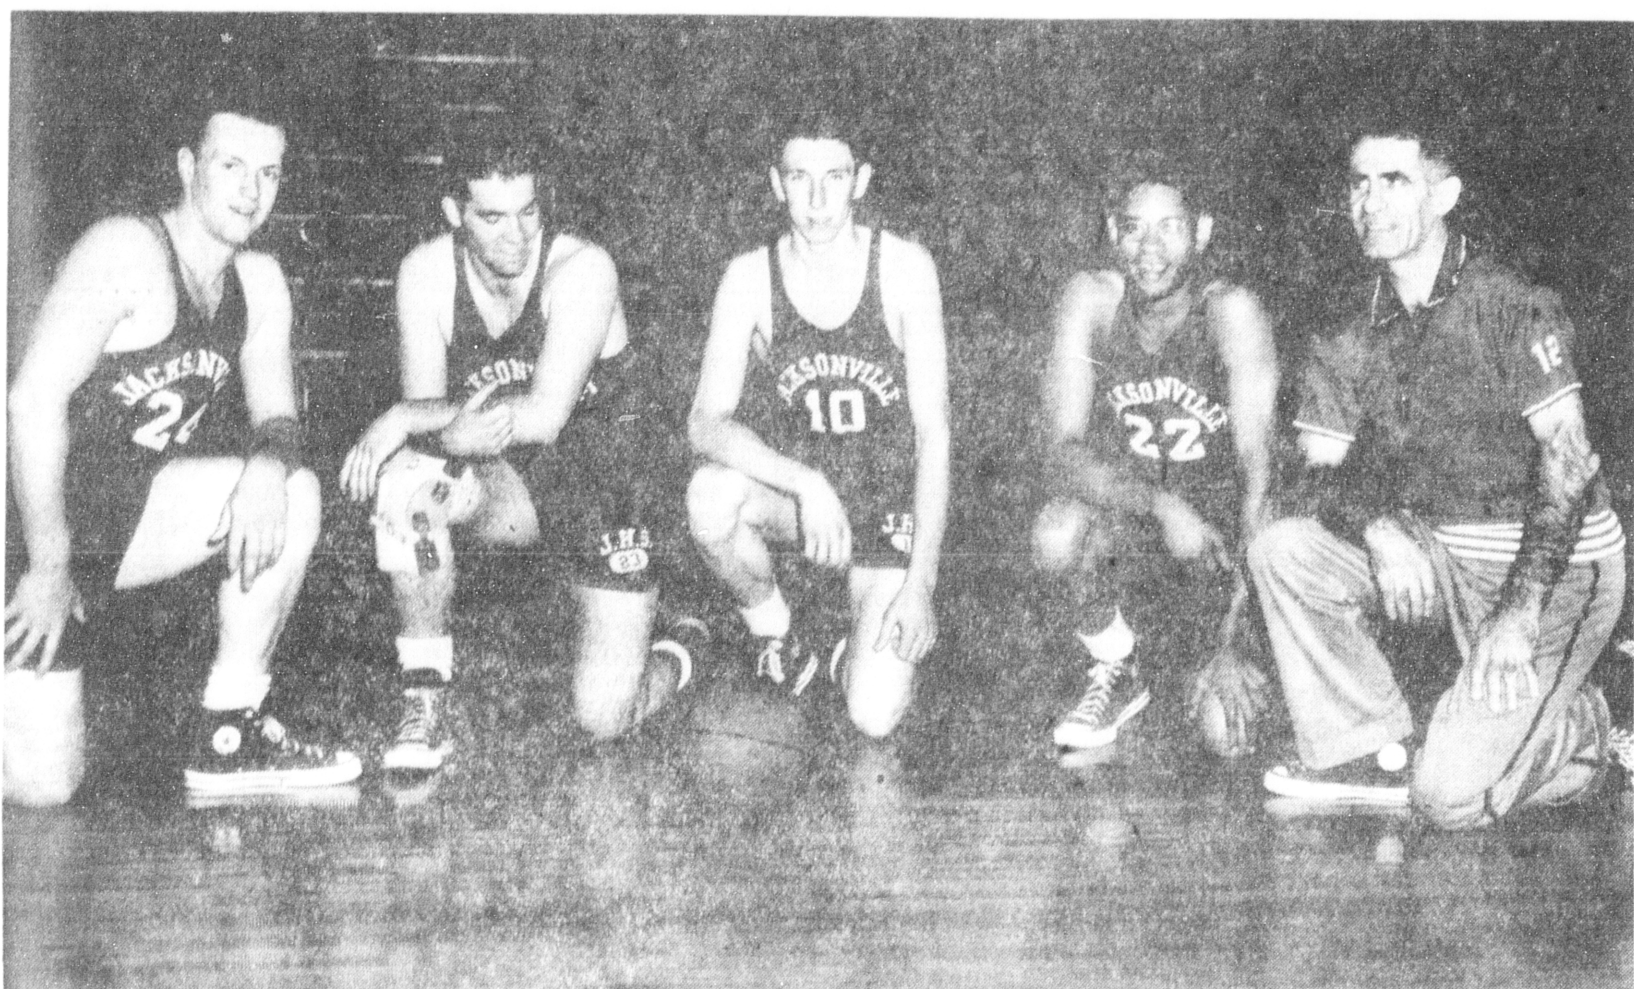

Ohio State, the only other major team to finish the season unbeaten and untied, finished a strong third, the position it had held since mid-season.

A total of 408 votes were cast in the season's final ranking poll and exactly half of them listed Ohio State first. UCLA drew 133 first place votes. But the point score on the usual basis of 10 for each first place vote, 9 for second etc. made it even closer.

The previous record vote was 376 ballots cast in last year's final AP poll, when Maryland edged out Notre Dame for the national championship.

The top ranking earned Ohio State its first leg on the Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell Memorial Trophy, the championship emblem presented by Notre Dame after it had retired the Williams Trophy in 1947 by winning it three times. No

Russia Keeping Quiet On Size Of Olympic Squad

MELBOURNE (P) — Russia is keeping quiet on the size of her 1956 Olympic team at Melbourne.

Gen. William Bridgeford, chief executive officer of the games, said Monday "We have heard from most of the other countries, but the Russians say they haven't decided."

The Olympic executive added he is sure the Russians will send a large team than any other nation, despite the diplomatic divorce of Australia and the Soviet Union a year ago.

Langlois Expects To Dethrone Olson

NEW YORK (P) — Brimming with confidence, France's Pierre Langlois said Monday he expects to dethrone Olson week in a n p l o n Carl (Bobo) Olson Dec. 15 because of Bobo's aggressive style of fighting.

"I've seen Olson only on television," said Pierre. "But I know that he gets in there and fights. He doesn't run away. That's his style and I like it. I mean I like to fight a man with that kind of style. I do well against that kind of a fighter."

Olson is favored at about 2-1 odds to beat back the challenge of the 29-year-old Gallic gladiator in San Francisco.

NCAA Begins Two Day Meet Today

CHICAGO (P) — Reviewing operations of the 1954 restricted football television plan will be the main item of business for the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. TV committee in a two-day meeting starting Tuesday.

The committee, in session at Chicago's LaSalle Hotel, also will prepare a report to the 49th annual NCAA convention in New York, Jan. 5-7.

Committee members include H. O. Crisler, Michigan and Reaves E. Peters, Big Seven Conference.

Loyola Cage Coach Predicts New Records From Free Throw Line

CHICAGO (P) — Basketball's new bonus free throw rule will cause all existing free throw records to be broken this season, George Ireland, Loyola of Chicago cage coach, predicted Monday.

Ireland told the Chicago Basketball Writers' Assn., that "I wouldn't be surprised to see teams pick up 25 to 30 free throws per game this season."

The new rule provides that on a one-shot foul a player making good on the free throw will get a chance to make another. Last season if a player missed the first free throw he got another shot.

"There will be more whistle tooting by the officials because players will be driving in for the bucket more than ever," Ireland said. "Officials will be calling fouls closer. Teams will be spending much of their time around the foul lines."

Whereas Ireland thought additional foul line shooting may decrease interest in the game, Coach Ozzy Cowles of Minnesota said he believed "fans won't object to seeing a boy going up to the line and making a shot."

"Last season they used the first free throw attempt as just a warm-up, knowing they had another chance if they missed," Cowles added.

"They'll now be working for two points, just as good as a basket. And I'm inclined to think this will make for less fouling than more. We used the new bonus rule in the East-West game last season as an experiment. The West won 105-98 so perhaps the fans can expect bigger scores."

Birds Broadcast

RICHMOND, Va. (P) — Mrs. H. J. Griffiths says her 14-year-old son, Arvon, has been a practicing scientist since he was three. As a toddler, infant he used to be for soap powder, starch and cooking ingredients to "make chemistry."

Arvon's room looks like the home base for a rocket flight to Mars or the Moon. There's a short wave radio, an electric tie-dye box, a photo laboratory, parlor magic equipment, telegraph equipment, a public address system linking upper and lower floors of the house, and lights go on automatically when the door is open. Some of it frantically Mrs. Griffiths — like a small boy with parallel upright antenna wires which give off weird, dancing lightning flashes when a switch is flipped.

"One gadget mother Griffiths likes very much, Arvon rigged up a recording microphone outside an upper window and his mother hears birds broadcast as she works downstairs."

"I have the most beautiful music in the mornings," she says.

Joey Giardello Suspended

PHILADELPHIA (P) — Joey Giardello was suspended Monday by the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission "until he clears himself of charges in connection with a brawl in a South Philadelphia gas station."

The suspension was announced by Frank Wiener, chairman of the commission.

Giardello is free in $1,000 bail pending court action. The 24-year-old middleweight title contender, and two friends are accused of assaulting a service station attendant and wrecking the place Oct. 29.

COMPTON-BOISE IN POTATO BOWL

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (P) — The Kern County Shrine Club Monday announced the selection of Compton College as the opponent of Boise, Ida., College in the 7th annual potato bowl football game here Saturday night.

ELECTED CAPTAIN

DAVENPORT, Iowa (P) — Calvin Jones, All-Big Ten guard from Steubenville, Ohio, Monday night was elected captain of the University of Iowa football team for 1955.

JOEY LOPES WINS

NEW YORK (P) — Joey Lopes, 133, of Sacramento, Calif., won a split decision over Lulu Perez, 132, of Brooklyn, Monday night in the 10-round feature bout at St. Nicholas Arena.

3 Notre Dame Players Named On East Team

NEW YORK (P) — Three Notre Dame football players — quarterback Ralph Guglielmi, end Dan Shannon and halfback Joe Heap — were named Monday to the East team for the annual East-West charity game by William Coffman, managing director.

The game will be played in San Francisco Jan. 1 and the receipts, less expenses, go to a Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children. Coffman estimated that this year's gift to the hospital would approximate $250,000.

Coffman, here to confer with Eastern coaches, said four more players would be added to the Eastern squad.

The East squad includes backs Guglielmi and Heap; Leroy Bolden, Michigan State; Ron Drzewiecki, Marquette; Bob McNamara, Minnesota; and George Broeder, Iowa; ends Shannon; and John Kerr, Purdue; tackles Arthur Walker, Michigan; John Hall, Iowa, and Ronald Geyer, Michigan; guards, Tom Bettis, Purdue; Henry Bullock, Michigan State and Jan Smid, Illinois; and center John Dammore, Northwestern.

Guglielmi Winner Of Walter Camp Memorial Award

WASHINGTON (P) — Ralph Guglielmi, Notre Dame's star quarterback, Monday was voted the Washington Touchdown Club's Walter Camp Memorial, honoring him as the outstanding college football back of the year.

Guglielmi will receive his award at the club's annual banquet Jan. 8.

Club officials said Guglielmi was chosen "on the basis of his all-around ability, offensive and defensive, and his inspirational leadership that has prompted many to rate him with the school's all-time football greats."

JOEY GIARDELLO SUSPENDED

PHILADELPHIA (P) — Joey Giardello was suspended Monday by the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission "until he clears himself of charges in connection with a brawl in a South Philadelphia gas station."

The suspension was announced by Frank Wiener, chairman of the commission.

Giardello is free in $1,000 bail pending court action. The 24-year-old middleweight title contender, and two friends are accused of assaulting a service station attendant and wrecking the place Oct. 29.

Denver Buys Triple A Franchise From Yanks

By JACK HAND

HOUSTON (P) — The New York Yankees Monday sold their American Association franchise to Denver, thereby setting into motion for the first time in history the machinery for drafting baseball territory.

The Western League and the American Assn. failed to agree on damages after the Yankee-Denver deal became the first chain reaction to the shift of the Philadelphia Athletics to Kansas City.

When the Western League asked $150,000 for the Denver territory, the association refused and called upon George Trautman, head of the minor leagues, to appoint a five-man arbitration board.

It would be the first time in history for a league of higher classification to draft territory from a league of lower classification. In the past, the matter of damages has been settled by negotiations.

Ed Doherty, head of the American Assn., said a letter requesting the arbitration board would be given to Trautman.

Trautman said the board would include Senator Edwin C. Johnson, president of the Western League, or his representative; Bob Howsman, owner of the Denver club; Doherty, and a representative of the Yankees. These four will select the fifth member.

Doherty said the damages asked by Western officials were so high the American Association did not give a counter proposal.

The Yankees' sale of the old Kansas City Blues was announced Monday morning. No price was announced. Although the asking price had been $100,000, it was reported the Yankees settled for a smaller figure.

Crimsons At Feitshans For Opener; Local Game Starts At 7:00

The Jacksonville Crimson's journey to Springfield for a battle with the Feitshans Flyers and the Routt Rockets tangle with the I. S. D. Tigers in an inter-city game as all local high schools swing into cage action tonight.

For Coach John Chapman's Crimson's it will be their first game since the Sectional finals of last year. The Jacks will be engaging the Flyers who they defeated twice last season. This battle will be the opening Central Conference game for both schools.

Coach Chapman plans to go with four lettermen and a junior in the starting lineup. Billy Jordan will return to hold down the pivot spot. Jim Woodward and Howard Johnson got the nod at forwards while Max Roegge and Larry Scott will be at guards. Scott is the only non letter winner. Other boys making the trip will be Larry Knight, Jack Fairfield, Tom Coates, Jim Reynolds, Charles McPike, Bob McEvers and James Wallace.

The first game will begin at 6:30 at the Feitshans gym. (Directions to the gym — by John Chapman. "Go east on Grand, passing under the viaduct, until you hit 14th street, turn left and go about three blocks.")

HOUSTON (P) — The New York Yankees Monday sold their American Association franchise to Denver, thereby setting into motion for the first time in history the machinery for drafting baseball territory.

The Western League and the American Assn. failed to agree on damages after the Yankee-Denver deal became the first chain reaction to the shift of the Philadelphia Athletics to Kansas City.

When the Western League asked $150,000 for the Denver territory, the association refused and called upon George Trautman, head of the minor leagues, to appoint a five-man arbitration board.

It would be the first time in history for a league of higher classification to draft territory from a league of lower classification. In the past, the matter of damages has been settled by negotiations.

Ed Doherty, head of the American Assn., said a letter requesting the arbitration board would be given to Trautman.

Trautman said the board would include Senator Edwin C. Johnson, president of the Western League, or his representative; Bob Howsman, owner of the Denver club; Doherty, and a representative of the Yankees. These four will select the fifth member.

Doherty said the damages asked by Western officials were so high the American Association did not give a counter proposal.

The Yankees' sale of the old Kansas City Blues was announced Monday morning. No price was announced. Although the asking price had been $100,000, it was reported the Yankees settled for a smaller figure.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (P)—Treasury obligations declined Monday but the corporate bond market was mixed and active.

"Big Board" volume climbed to $6,215,000 par value from $5,430,000 Friday and $5,247,000 a week ago. Railroads were in demand, especially income bonds and obligations selling at a discount. Convertible industrials and utilities were also strong, but many investment quality issues eased.

Debtors of U.S. government obligations said institutional investors were neglecting their market. Consequently, prices were marked down in slow over the counter dealings.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (P)—The stock market maintained headway with difficulty Monday in its post-election bull market boom.

It did, however, establish its fifth straight new high since 1929 with gains that sometimes went to $8 and $10. Most plus signs were fractional with leaders pushing out to around $3.

There were plenty of losers in the list running to large fractions with a few off $1 to $2.

Railroads were the backbone of the advance helped substantially by aircrafts, chemicals and a long list of individual issues.

The recently strong oils ran into profit taking along with airlines and some motors, distillers, utilities and rubbers. The steels started weak and then ended mixed.

Total business for the day was 3,300,000 shares. That compares with 3,010,000 shares traded in Friday's strong market.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks added 60 cents at $148.10. It was up $1.20 Friday. The average at $148.10 matched Oct. 10, 1929, and is less than $10 under the all-time high of $157.70 hit Sept. 3, 1929.

All three components of the average worked to new highs—the industrials up 44 cents at $202.70, railroads up $1.10 at $113.90, and utilities up 20 cents at $66.60.

The American Stock Exchange was higher on 990,000 shares as compared with 1,110,000 shares traded Friday.

CORN MARKET FIRM, BEANS SHOW GAINS

By WILLIAM FERRIS
CHICAGO (P)—Firmness throughout the session in corn and a late slump in soybeans featured dealings in grains on the Board of Trade Monday. Other cereals declined.

Trading was at a routine pace most of the day but became active in soybeans during the last 10 minutes. It was in that period that soybeans wiped out losses and moved above the previous close.

Wheat closed 3/8 to 1 cent lower, corn 1/4 to 1/2 cent lower, soybeans 1/2 to 1/4 higher and lard 20 cents lower to 3 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Buying in corn was stimulated partly by light receipts of cash grain, totaling only 159 cars. It was felt by many traders that the peak of the post-harvest movement had passed and that many farmers were finding storage space back on farms. Cash prices firmed.

The late buying in soybeans came in part from day-to-day traders who had sold short during the morning. It didn't have a basis in the news. But grain men noted talk of a possible blockade of Red China, which would include Manchuria, because of imprisonment of American flyers.

Such a blockade might well prevent shipment of Manchurian soybeans to Europe and to Japan, which presumably would increase the demand for American soybeans. However, there did not appear to be much chance of a blockade at this time.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

CHICAGO (P)—Butchers and hogs dropped 25 to 50 cents in the hog market Monday, reflecting receipts of 22,000 salable head. The huge run was well taken, however, and there were no holdovers.

Choice butchers scaling 180 to 225 resisted the decline, selling at $18.75 to $19.25. These were in scarce supply. Most choice 230 to 250-pound butchers sold at $17.50 to $18.00 with 250 to 280-pounders $17.00 to $17.50.

Salable receipts in the cattle section totaled 18,000. Both steers and heifers held steady, steers topping at $30.50 and heifers at $27.25. The latter price was paid for one load of high prime types. Most good and choice steers brought $21.00 to $27.00 and good to low choice heifers $20.25 to $24.25.

Cows held fully steady at $9.75 to $12.00 for utility and commercial. Vealers were steady at $17.00 to $22.00 for good to prime.

Lambs and sheep sold steady to 50 cents higher. Choice and prime woolled lambs moved at $20.00 to $21.50 and good to choice at $18.00 to $20.00. Salable receipts totaled 6,500.

Newsman Get Briefing On Tachen Isles Tour

Editors Note: Fred Waters of The Associated Press staff in Tokyo and other news cameramen were taken on a tour of the Tachens, important Chinese Nationalist Islands 200 miles north of Formosa. This is his report from the Tachens, which the Nationalists believe are marked for a Communist invasion.

By FRED WATERS
TACHEN ISLANDS (P)—The Chinese Communists have 200,000 troops threatening Chiang Kai-shek's offshore islands, a briefing officer told visiting news cameramen Monday.

They are part of the 600,000 soldiers which the Reds have deployed in coastal areas of Chekiang and Fukien provinces, close to the string of Nationalist offshore islands.

Forces in this northern area, he added, were backed up by 65,000 tons of naval craft and 403 planes, including 185 MIG jets and 55 twin-engine Russian built TU bombers.

Outpost islands near the Tachens are being bombarded by Red artillery. And at least one hostile submarine contact has been made in Tachen's waters.

The briefing officer spoke for Lt. Gen. Liu Lien-yi, tough, cocksure commander of all Nationalist islands off Chekiang Province.

Nationalist troops in the Tachens are tough and amazingly cheerful.

The Tachens have few landing sites for a possible Red invasion force. If the Nationalists fight as they vow to do, the invasion would be a pretty costly business.

The Tachens consist of two main islands, Upper and Lower Tachen. Upper Tachen is 3.12 miles long and 2.78 miles wide. It is extremely rocky and hilly with high cliffs fronting the sea almost all the way around the island.

Lower Tachen is 3.75 miles long and 1.3 miles wide. The two islands have a civilian population of 14,578. The garrison has been estimated at 20,000 regulars and guerrillas.

The briefing officer described the Tachens, which are 14 miles off the Red China coast, as "an advance base" for both Formosa and the U. S. base island of Okinawa, which lies about 375 miles to the east.

From the Tachens, the Nationalists watch Communist air and sea movements and alert Formosa.

The islands are valuable for infiltration to the mainland and could be used for a springboard for attack.

The briefing officer quoted intelligence reports that five submarines had left North China's naval base at Tientsin, presumably heading south. Three thousand rubber boats have been shipped out of Tientsin.

Communist planes since August have been over the Tachens 37 times, the briefing officer said. A few 250 and 300-pound bombs were dropped but most were smaller antipersonnel bombs.

In any other way.

The Western note on European security laid out these five points by which they said such a basis could be established and meetings held to achieve European settlements:

1. Russia should agree to sign an Austrian treaty, ending the occupation of the country.

2. Russia should clarify its position on free elections in Germany which are the essential first steps to German reunification.

3. Any other European issues which might come up at a later four power meeting — meaning a meeting of foreign ministers — should be explored through diplomatic channels.

4. Once the Western agreements on Germany are ratified and there is "a real prospect" of finding East-West solutions a four power meeting should be held.

Delegation Protests Zoning "Q" Property For Heavy Industry

A delegation of First Ward residents visited the city hall last night to protest an ordinance, up for second and final reading, which would change a tract of land owned by the C. B. & Q. railroad, located between the "Q" and Wabash sidings from light industrial to heavy industrial zone.

The delegation also brought along with it a petition bearing 86 signatures, all in opposition to amending the zoning classification.

The tract included in the ordinance, which received reading one week ago, extends from Clay avenue to Brown street.

After more than a half hour's discussion, during which several citizens spoke, the council voted on motions by Aldermen Merriman and May to postpone action on the ordinance until Dec. 20, for further consideration.

No Objectors at Hearing

Mayor Hoagland called attention to the delegation of some ten or twelve citizens that the question of rezoning the Burlington property between the switch spurs appeared in a legal publication several weeks ago. He said that no objectors appeared at the hearing before the Planning Commission, which recommended that the zone be changed.

Last night the citizens told the council that they have been informed that a junk yard will be started on the property if the land is rezoned. They said that such an industry would prove a detriment to the neighborhood of their homes.

H. H. McGownd asked the council to remand the matter to the Planning Commission for further consideration. He said the citizens did not realize the proposed amendment concerned the tract between the railroad spurs until they read it in the council proceedings one week ago.

Several other citizens who did not leave their seats added comments to their feelings about the proposed zone change, during the time that McGownd addressed the council.

Alderman Allen reported that the Burlington railroad has frequently shuttled cars on a side-

Miner Trapped By Rock Slide

ST. CLAIR, Pa. (AP)—A 37-year-old hard coal miner was trapped by a rock slide 280 feet underground at an independently operated anthracite shaft near this eastern Pennsylvania coal town Monday.

Two fellow workers managed to escape the rock fall and scrambled to safety up the 80 degree slope of the shaft to the surface, one after being partly buried for an hour.

Trapped at the bottom of the mine was Frank Pesavage of Gilberton. Those who escaped were Stanley Purcell, 34, Frankville, and John Blase, 33, also Frankville.

Mine rescue crews said they would attempt to reach Pesavage by digging through the pile of rock and dirt at the bottom of the sloping shaft. There was a chance, they said, they also would try to work their way through an abandoned horizontal shaft running off a deep strip—open digging—mine.

Rescuers said if Pesavage escaped death in the rock fall, he still might die for lack of oxygen. The rescue operation promised to take several days.

Pesavage is married and the father of two children.

SEES NO LARGE TAX CUTS

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP)—There will be no substantial amount of tax reduction next year in the opinion of Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn.), a member of the Senate's Banking and Currency Committee.

Speaking before the 43rd annual convention of the Investment Bankers Assn. of America Monday, he said he anticipated attempts by the new Democratic Congress to raise the personal income tax exemptions but he asserted he did not think they would succeed.

Taxes cannot be further cut, he said, until expenditures for defense can be lowered and he saw little likelihood of that in the coming year.

41 Xmas Boxes Sent Overseas To Service Men

A total of 41 boxes were filled and sent to service men overseas by the American War Dads and Auxiliary chapter 28, this month. The annual project was initiated this year at the request of the new president, Mrs. Nina Abbott.

Mrs. Elita Leigh is the Auxiliary's veterans security chairman. Her committee members are Ora Mansfield, Della McGinnis, Nelle Wainfield, Opal Bends, Emma Long, Eva Baxley, Lillian Lutz. The boxes were filled with home-made canisters and cookies, chewing gum, stamps, small shaving razors, small books, white handkerchiefs, playing cards, tea bags, pocket combs, pencils and pop corn to fill in all loose space. The last item was a copy of the Jacksonville Journal to inspire a touch from home. Eighteen members of the Auxiliary and four from the Dad's chapter helped fill the boxes. Eight of the above number of boxes were filled at the home of Mrs. Mae Andrews, gold star mother.

Mrs. Robert Reid wrapped and tied the boxes before Mrs. McGinnis and Mrs. Leigh took them to the post office for shipping. A party for 70 veterans at the Jacksonville State Hospital will be held on Pearl Harbor Day, Dec. 7.

Ask Dr. D. D. Henry To Become U. Of I. President

CHICAGO (AP)—An invitation was extended Monday to Dr. David D. Henry, vice chancellor of New York University, to become president of the University of Illinois next year.

The bid, voted unanimously by the university's Board of Trustees, was not accepted immediately by the New York administrator who asked a day in which to think it over.

Dr. Henry has been favored by a majority of the Illinois institution's board for several weeks, but public discussion of his activities while he was president of Wayne University at Detroit brought a crisis last week.

In a statement, Dr. Henry said he felt the process of selecting a president for the Illinois school had "degenerated into a process of public review." He said he was not an active candidate for the post and asked that the board not consider him further.

Herbert B. Megran, president of the board, said, however, after telephoning Dr. Henry, "He said he felt greatly complimented at the honor."

Megran, of Harvard, Ill., told reporters his phone call "appeared to be rather sudden to Dr. Henry and he was not ready to make a reply right off the bat. He asked me to call him again tomorrow, and I will phone him before noon."

Megran said he referred to Dr. Henry's statement of last Tuesday seeking to remove himself from consideration. "I told him that he had read some statements which had been misinterpreted."

He said he believed the New York educator was impressed by the board's unanimity.

Pike Resident Takes Own Life

PITTSFIELD—Eldred Wendell Robbins, 53 year old Pike county farmer who formerly lived at Pittsfield and operated a garage here, shot and killed himself at 9:30 Sunday morning with a 22 rifle. The tragedy occurred at his home, one mile west of New Salem.

The victim's children found his body on his bed where he had apparently fired the gun. The older son walked a mile to telephone for help.

Pike county sheriff Ray Lyman investigated and found the rifle beside the body in the bedroom of the home Robbins had moved to nine years before. Corner Walter Platt, who conducted an inquiry Sunday and determined that Robbins had taken his life because of poor health.

He was born Dec. 26, 1901, the son of Frank and Myra Robbins. He is survived by his wife, Cinderella and two sons, Frank and Melvin, 14 and 9 years of age and two daughters, Carol Lee, 7 and Sharon Lee, 1½, all at home. Also a stepdaughter, Mrs. Beulah Mae Hull of near New Salem. Three brothers and a sister also survive.

The body was taken to the Skinner funeral home at Griggsville where services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday with burial to be made in the West Pittsfield cemetery.

TITO TO VISIT INDIA, BURMA

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—President Marshal Tito left Monday night for state visits to India and Burma.

There has been speculation, denied by semi-official spokesmen, that Tito might try to develop a third world force independent of both the West and the Russian-led Cominform, which broke with Yugoslavia in 1948.

Lorraine Clark Pleads Guilty To Husband's Murder

SALEM, Mass. (AP)—Lorraine Eaton Clark, 28, American mother of three young children, went to prison under mandatory life sentence Monday after pleading guilty to second degree murder in the slaying of her husband, Melvin W. Clark Jr., 29, an electronics factory night worker.

The slender, attractive brunette, whose eyes glimmered with tears at mention of her children during brief Essex County Superior Court proceedings, was taken to the women's reformatory at Sherborn, Framingham. She will be eligible for parole in 15 years.

Mrs. Clark had been indicted for first degree murder which is punishable by death unless jury recommends life imprisonment. She had pleaded innocent at a recent arraignment but answered "guilty in the second degree" 2 hours and 16 minutes after her trial opened.

Acceptance of the plea to the lesser charge was urged upon Judge Charles Fairhurst by Dist. Atty. Hugh A. Craig.

Mrs. Clark's three children, Marlene, 8, Sally, 7, and Michael, 5, have been living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Eaton of Amesbury, since her arrest.

Clark's body, bearing two bullet wounds in the head and two stab wounds in the chest, was found seven weeks after he disappeared on the April 10-11 Palm Sunday weekend. Clegg said Mrs. Clark admitted killing her husband at their Lake Attitash home, Amesbury, and then disposing of his body by thrusting it from a bridge into the Merrimack River. It was washed up on a salt marsh and was spotted by a woman bird watcher on June 2.

Expect 1,000 Baptists From 5 Counties Here

More than a thousand are expected to attend the Sandy Creek Baptist Association Mobilization meet to be held at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 6, in the Annie Mercer chapel on MacMurray College campus. Sandy Creek area embraces five counties including 42 Baptist churches.

The guest speaker will be the Reverend William Morris Ford, pastor of the First Baptist church in Longview, Texas, and a former resident of Patterson. His parents were the late William P. Ford of Patterson and Mrs. Florence Prindle Ford, now of Memphis, Tenn.

Slides will be shown of the locations for the tri-sectional meetings within the Sandy Creek association. The meetings are held each month and the pictures will show the churches where each of the meetings are to be held.

The theme of the monthly meetings coming up is "Be Strong in the Lord."

Special music will be provided at the convocation at the College chapel and
